

Frown Lines

Here at Paramount Dental Sydney, our qualified practitioners can administer Botox as an effective treatment for frown lines.

About

Frown Lines form over time as we age. They are created by the repeated movement of the facial skin when we frown or squint.

Botox blocks the nerve signal that causes your facial muscles to contract resulting in a reduction of muscle activity within the treated area and temporarily stops the contraction of the muscles.

Treatment

The effects of a Botox treatment last approximately three to four months but this is impacted by your metabolic activity and lifestyle choices. When the wrinkles begin to reappear, you will need to come in for another treatment.

The temporary nature of the treatments is actually one of the reasons that Botox has such an incredible safety record because when the treatment effects are gone, they are gone completely.

Cost | From $275 Per Area

Several factors can vary and increase the cost of treatment. Our team will advise you of these during your consultation.
